Paula Radcliff's Day

I'm an English runner who has won the world marathon six times. I also won four marathons in the USA and three in London. These are the activities I do when I'm not in a competition:

8.30 am- My daughter Vicky comes to our room and says good morning to Gary and me. Later, I have some melon while giving cereal to her. Then, I have a look at the newspaper.

9.45 am- We leave Vicky at her theatre course; then, I run and Gary cycles next to me to keep me close to my time goal. I sometimes golf after this.

12.30 pm- After meeting Vicky at school, we get home and have a big lunch. Then, I play with her.

2.10 pm- Gary usually takes Vicky out while I sleep. When I get up, I boil some water for tea.

7.30 pm- In the evening, Gary gives Vicky tea while I finish doing my exercises. Afterwards, I cook dinner while Gary gives Vicky a bath.

8.20 pm- Vicky goes to bed. I read my friends' messages on the computer, watch volleyball on TV, and have a conversation with Gary.

10.30 pm- Time for bed. I brush my teeth and use some soap for my hands and face. I enjoy reading, but I haven't read much since Vicky was born. I also wish I had time for playing the drums, but it would get Vicky up.

Smiling More Often

Smiling more often has many benefits. People who smile regularly can experience an increase in their health and state of mind. Unfortunately, many people don't smile enough. It's a good idea to smile more often in order to be more attractive.

Smiling brings health benefits. It increases natural substances in the body which improve your state of mind. Besides, smiling helps your facial structure giving you a more youthful look; combined with healthy teeth, smiling can make you seem more healthy and attractive. Smiling also has positive effects on the immune and cardiovascular systems.

There are psychological benefits to smiling frequently. It makes you happy almost immediately. Many times when we can't smile, we find that anyone's smile helps us feel better. Smiling can also reduce stress levels since the body reacts quickly to it. A great way to make someone cheerful is to help them smile.

Smiling more often can also make you look more attractive and confident. In general, people like to show happiness and be near those who are happy. Smiling in the presence of others shows you are a happy person, and you can pass the feeling to them. People are naturally attracted to smiling; therefore, smiling frequently can help you get the attention you want from others.

If you don't smile much, find ways to smile more often; try to make others smile more often too. Smiling is a fast way to feeling happy. Feeling happy and making others feel happy is very positive and will bring many benefits. Although it seems difficult, it is in fact very easy; all it takes is moving some muscles and you are happy almost immediately.
